The following program will be given: Song, grange; piano solo, Miss Lena Owens; open discussion, "What is your opinion of the community chapter in this vicinity?" led by Charles Persons; song, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Milne; roll call of members, answered by quotations; song, grange. A very enjoyable sugar social was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Gregory, Maple Avenue farm, when a number of their friends called in unexpectedly. The guests were invited to the sugar house and a jolly time followed. The process of sugar making was explained and was very interesting. A delightful supper was prepared and served in the guest room, to which all did credit, sugar being served in various ways. Then the guests returned to the house, where the following musical program was given: Piano solo, Miss Monica Schneider; violin solo, Corp. L. J. Kimball; reading, Miss Annie McGann; vocal duet, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," Misses Gregory and Schneider.

Lieut. C. R. Reid gave an interesting account of his experiences during the 14 months of army life overseas, also in the battles in which he participated. A vocal solo, "Till We Meet Again," was given by Miss Mabel Gregory. Each number on the program was asked to respond to an encore. The guests departed at a late hour, feeling very sweet and hoping to have a repetition of this delightful sugar party in the near future.

The Dickens party, given by the educational department of the Barre Woman's club Tuesday afternoon, was very entertaining, as well as educational. The program consisted of two old songs, "The Ivy Green" and "What Are the Wild Waves Saying," sung very sweetly by Mrs. Bradley; a poem, "Dickens in Camp," by Bret Harie, given by Mrs. Keast; and two papers, "Dickens and His London," read by Mrs. Hale, and "Saucy Camp," by Miss Wheelock. Both of these papers were written in Mrs. Hale's own style, which one needs to hear to appreciate. They were both a great credit to the author. A dramatic sketch from Oliver Twist, "Mr. Bumble and Mrs. Corney Taking Tea," presented by Mrs. Charles Wislart as Mrs. Bumble and Miss Blanche Tilden as Mrs. Corney, was very ably given. If Dickens himself had been a guest of the afternoon, he must have recognized the portrayal of his characters. The youngest guest at this party was Miss Marion Wislart. After the program, refreshments, including the cup that cheers, but does not inebriate, were served.

Official notification of the burial of Private George R. MacKenzie, Co. C, 10th Infantry, in the commune of Boursches, Aisne, France, received from the office of the chief quartermaster, A. E. F., graves registration service, has served to shatter the last hope of Ewen MacKenzie, father of the young man, and the other relatives that Private MacKenzie might be alive—a hope that was revived somewhat by the statement of Major-General C. R. Edwards in Barre early this month that there was a slight chance of an error in the transmission of the message of death. The notification from the graves registration service was received since the statement of Major-General Edwards was made and it seems to leave no doubt of the original report. It gives the date of Private MacKenzie's death as July 20, 1918, and, following the usual form, the notification goes on to say: "The grave location has not been confirmed by the field force of this service, but the notification of burial has been made to us, as herein stated. As soon as confirmation of the location has been completed, you will be promptly advised."
